The Tour

The house is set back from the street by a pedestrian pathway that leads between wide lawns and mature trees. A fresh white gate opens to a leafy front courtyard bound by the kitchen extension. The façade is typical of Dulwich Estate, pairing red-brick with bright white soffits.

The entrance hallway leads through to a generous living space that spans the full width of the house. Large sliding glass doors frame the outlook to the garden beyond and blur the boundary between outside and in. Original parquet floors have been preserved alongside modern twists, including a gallery shelf running along the left wall providing additional display space. A dining area sits between the main seating area and the kitchen; the current owners have used a recess in this area to create an office space.

The kitchen extension sits at the front of the plan, where a large picture window above the sink looks out to the greenery of the courtyard. Wooden cabinetry is paired with sleek worktops and a tiled splashback. A large skylight above ensure this room is bathed in natural light throughout the day. The current owners have created a pantry at the end of the room with valuable extra storage space. There is an additional storage cupboard and WC on the ground floor.

On the first floor, there are two generously sized double bedrooms, both with built-in storage. The main bedroom, at the rear of the house, is a peaceful space with treetop outlooks. Painted wooden boards run throughout, complementing the modern bespoke cabinetry. There is a family bathroom on this level with a bathtub and plenty of storage.

On the third floor, there is a third, dual-aspect bedroom with dormer windows to the front and rear. Positioned at the top of the house, this is a versatile space, currently configured as an office and second living room. Glass bricks create a feature wall dividing this space from the adjacent en suite shower room. There is plenty of eaves storage. The house also has a garage within the estate.

Outdoor Space

Wide sliding doors from the living space open to a verdant garden surrounded by mature trees and beds. Wisteria climbs over the pergola that defines the oak decked seating area immediately beyond the doors.

A low brick wall and a set of steps rise to a patch of lawn surrounded by rose, periwinkle and clematis. At the foot of the garden, a gate leads on to a further section with established planting framed by ancient woodlands just beyond.
