Gaisford Street

Situated on the top floor of a Victorian terrace in Kentish Town is this engaging one bedroom apartment which has been thoughtfully reconfigured to a design by award-winning architect David Kohn.

Internal accommodation extends to approximately 510 sq ft and is accessed via a third-floor entrance (there is no lift) and cloak area. From here a painted staircase with oak railing ascends to the fourth-floor which has a part-vaulted ceiling and remote-controlled velux roof-light. There is woodblock flooring in all rooms except the bathroom, and south-facing sash windows flood the open-plan kitchen, dining area and living room with light.

Bespoke plywood joinery is used throughout the apartment in cohesive continuity, as kitchen cabinets, splash-backs and cladding, and to create shelving and storage units. Sliding pockets doors, also constructed in plywood, open to the bathroom, and to the bedroom which has built-in wardrobes and overlooks gardens to the rear.

About

The Modern House is an estate agency that helps people live in more thoughtful and beautiful ways. We believe in design as a powerful force for good. Inspired by the principles of modernism, we represent design-led homes across the UK which celebrate light, space and a truth to materials. Esquire credits The Modern House with “rewriting the rulebook on estate agency” and GQ voted us “one of the best things in the world”.
