

THE MODERN HOUSE

East Rudham, Norfolk
£1,170,000 Freehold

Broomsthorpe Road

Located in the pretty village of East Rudham, Norfolk, this five-bedroom house has been perfectly designed to connect with its bucolic surroundings. Built in the local vernacular of red brick and flint, the traditional house also has a sleek, modern rear extension with polished concrete floors that flow out to the garden beyond. A sense of sociable living reigns, with interior spaces cleverly designed to amplify this sense of connection with the outdoors. Broomsthorpe Road lies close to the transport links of King's Lynn, as well as Norfolk's beautiful coastline.

The Tour

The house is positioned at the end of a gravelled driveway behind a front garden bursting with herbs and greenery; its traditional frontage of red brick conceals the contemporary nature of the home within. This represents the impressive synthesis of old and new throughout the house, where the marriage of the two is played out in the architecture, materials and colours used. There is space for two cars on the driveway, plus a further space in the enclosed garden, as well as a detached garage.

The main living spaces are in the beautiful rear extension, encompassing an open-plan kitchen, dining room and living area with a log-burning stove. Polished concrete floors extend underfoot, and bi-fold doors wrap around the corner, opening directly to the garden. A skylight above the kitchen island welcomes further light into the space. The kitchen itself is by Venetian company Cesar, and has been executed to the highest standard, with stainless steel worktops and contemporary grey cabinetry. Built-in appliances include a Fisher & Paykel fridge, a SubZero/Wolf cooker and a Miele wine fridge. Behind the kitchen lies a generous pantry for food storage.

At the front of the plan on this floor is a second living area, with dark grey walls by Paint and Paper Library that create a cocooning, welcoming atmosphere, aided by a log-burning stove. Engineered oak floors create contrast with the polished concrete of the extension. On this floor is also a utility room with a washer/dryer, a shower room with electric blue walls by Little Greene, plus two bedrooms and an office. One of the bedrooms is currently used as a TV snug and has direct access to the garden through bifold doors.

The first floor is home to three generous bedrooms. The main bedroom has walls painted in a serene shade of green by Paint and Paper Library and is wonderfully bright care of its dual-aspect nature. Built-in wardrobes wrap around one corner, with natural wool carpet on the floors. An en suite has a large walk-in shower and quartz-tiled walls. On the opposite side of the plan is a similarly generous bedroom with an en suite; between the two is another bedroom and a family bathroom. This third bedroom is defined by a cosy nook to the front, which makes a wonderful office space.

Outdoor Space

The beautiful rear garden flows out from several access points within the house, creating a wonderful sense of connection between indoors and out. A concrete patio surrounds the house, leading to a verdant lawn beyond that overlooks open fields. The large lawn is dotted with mature specimen trees, including silver birch, sycamore and pine, which make a haven for local birds; wonderfully stocked borders enclose the space.

There is ample space for several seating areas, one of which is bounded by the original redbrick wall at the bottom of the garden. At the opposite end is a large log store, a shed for storage, plus an external power room with a large sink adjacent. There is room to park several cars in this area.

A flourishing front garden stocked with bushels of thyme and lavender offers another secluded seating area.
