

THE MODERN HOUSE

St Leonards-on-Sea, East Sussex
Sold

Marine Court VI

Positioned on the 6th floor of the remarkable Grade II-listed Marine Court, this seafront flat has two bedrooms and panoramic views of the water. Designed by Kenneth Dalglish and Roger K Pullen, the building was completed in 1938.

The south-facing apartment is arranged laterally to maximise the view and intake of light. The living space and master bedroom occupy the best position at the front, linked by a glazed winter garden, both with large sliding windows. There is a second bedroom, kitchen and family bathroom. The block is serviced by 24-hour portorage.

The flat has been simply restored by the current owners, preserving the best of the original features where possible. The building itself is undergoing a major external refurbishment now that its management has been taken over by the residents.

THE MODERN HOUSE

Marine Court VI

The first foundations of Marine Court were laid in 1936 and construction was completed in 1938. An early pioneer of steel-frame construction, the building is 14 storeys high and sits broadside to the seafront. Its form was overtly based on the Queen Mary, a transatlantic cruise ship which entered commercial service in 1936. The east end of Marine Court is shaped to imitate the curved, stacked bridge front of the Queen Mary; the eastern restaurant served to imitate the fo'c'sle deck of the ship.

St. Leonards-on-Sea, and neighbouring Hastings, is fast becoming a popular seaside town, partly due to its proximity to London, but also because of its beautiful Regency architecture. Developer-architect James Burton, and his son Decimus, developed the resort in the early 19th century, with echoes of London's Marylebone and Belgravia where the Burtons had previously practised.

St. Leonards has a growing number of delicatessens, bars, pubs and restaurants, and has been a popular spot for 20th-century furniture shops and galleries for some years. The newly renovated Hastings Pier can be seen from the flat.

Direct train services from St. Leonards and Hastings reach London's Charing Cross in approximately an hour and a half.

The service charge is paid bi-annually and is currently approx. £2,789.63 every 6 months.
